

I think no one should be able to limit what XM offers subscribers. We subscribers pay for the services we get and we, the subscribers, should say what we want.